Jeremy Barton has a thriving barrister practice focused on serious criminal work, predominantly defending.

He is regularly instructed on both a private and publicly funded basis in the most serious of criminal matters, including fraud, firearms, drugs (including EncroChat matters) and sexual offences. He is experienced as junior counsel in murder and manslaughter cases, both defending and prosecuting. Jeremy has particular expertise in firearms legislation and a practical knowledge of firearms. He is also VHCC accredited and a VHCC supervisor on behalf of solicitor firms who are not VHCC approved, allowing them to undertake VHCC work.

Jeremy is a versatile and charismatic advocate who simply does not give up on his case. He is popular and personable with both lay and professional clients and has a confident, calm manner in court. He is particularly good at managing difficult and demanding clients.

In addition to criminal work, Jeremy has developed a practice across other quasi-criminal areas including professional misconduct, with a particular focus on police discipline and misconduct, medical defence and coroners' inquests into death in custody. Jeremy has a Diploma in Anatomy and Human Physiology, which provides him with a unique medical insight when doing this regulatory work.

Jeremy joined Chambers in 2015, having previously spent 11 years in London at 2 King's Bench Walk.
