Paul Greaney QC

Year of call 1993 / 2010

For enquiries please call +44 (0)113 203 5504 or email

Paul Greaney QC specialises in serious crime, regulatory crime, public inquiries and inquests and professional discipline.

He is recommended in four practice areas in Chambers & Partners 2020: crime (star individual), financial crime, professional discipline and inquests and public inquiries.

Scope of Practice

- Serious crime, principally financial crime, homicide (including corporate manslaughter and manslaughter by gross negligence), terrorism and organised crime, including crime with an international aspect. Often advises at the investigation stage. Most work is conducted on a privately funded basis, although does continue to act on a publicly funded basis in some cases.
- Regulatory crime, with an emphasis on health and safety enforcement, data protection, trading standards issues, environmental health, food standards and prosecutions arising out of planning disputes. Often advises at the investigation stage.
- Public Inquiries (instructed as Counsel to the Manchester Arena Bombing Inquiry and acting on behalf of a core participant at the Grenfell Tower Inquiry).
- Inquests, particularly those involving allegations about the conduct of the police and/or medical practitioners and those involving health and safety issues (eg. acted as leading counsel to the Police Federation at the Hillsborough inquests and on behalf of the owners of one of the tallest buildings in the UK at an inquest into a death said to be linked to the design of that structure and behalf of the family of Pte. Sean Benton at the Deepcut Inquest).
- Disciplinary proceedings, including proceedings before professional sporting bodies, (eg. acted in the Football Association proceedings in the Suarez/Evra racist abuse case and the Anelka “quenelle” case), police misconduct proceedings and proceedings before the General Medical Council.

- Warrants and production orders. Regularly instructed on behalf of companies and prominent individuals in challenges, eg. acted on behalf of a media organisation on many occasions on applications for production orders by the Metropolitan Police arising out of the phone hacking investigation.
- Public law, particularly claims relating to the criminal justice system, police law and coronial law, but extending but other areas of the law.
- Police law.
- Licensing.

Homicide & Serious Crime

Paul has prosecuted and defended in many homicide cases. He has a particular interest in cases involving complex psychiatric issues (diminished responsibility, loss of control and fitness to plead) and scientific issues (including issues relating to the reliability of LCN DNA results and the relevance of stochastic effects to DNA findings).

A small selection of recent serious crime cases of significance (all of which attracted substantial media attention) include:
